

Camp Pecometh Recovery Update: Campers Return to Riverside Cabins

Dear Camp Pecometh Family,

Just a few weeks after the devastating July 4 storm, we are excited to share another major milestone in Camp Pecometh's recovery.

Both Chapel Hill and Marsh Hill are now fully reopened, and campers are once again enjoying these beautiful areas overlooking the Chester River.

Thanks to hundreds of volunteer hours, generous financial support, donated equipment, and the incredible dedication of our staff, these cabin areas are once again filled with campers. The laughter, worship, and excitement throughout camp are a powerful reminder of why Camp Pecometh is such a special place.

With the reopening of Chapel Hill and Marsh Hill, our entire summer camp is once again operating as designed. Seeing campers worship, play, build friendships, and grow in their faith in every corner of Camp Pecometh has been an incredible blessing and a testament to God's faithfulness through this challenging season.

Summer camp is in full swing, retreat groups continue to arrive, and families are already registering for upcoming programs. Every week, campers are discovering new friendships, growing in their faith, and making memories that will last a lifetime. Despite the storm, God's work at Camp Pecometh never stopped.

While we celebrate this tremendous progress, recovery is far from complete. Tree removal continues across the property, damaged areas still require attention, and repairs to facilities and infrastructure remain ongoing. We are still determining what insurance will cover, and many recovery expenses including equipment rentals, fuel, overtime, and unexpected repairs continue to add up.

Here's How You Can Help

Pray

Please continue praying for our staff, volunteers, campers, and everyone working to fully restore Camp Pecometh.

Volunteer

We continue to welcome volunteers (18 years and older) to assist with cleanup, debris removal, firewood splitting, and other recovery projects. If you'd like to serve, please contact Kevin Taylor at kevin@pecometh.org.

Give

Your financial support helps cover recovery expenses that insurance may not fully reimburse while ensuring Camp Pecometh can continue providing life-changing experiences for campers and retreat guests.

Support Camp Pecometh's Recovery

If you've been thinking about sending a child to camp or planning a retreat, there's never been a better time. Every camper, every retreat guest, every volunteer, every donor, and every prayer strengthens the ministry of Camp Pecometh and helps us continue moving forward.

The past few weeks have reminded us that Camp Pecometh is much more than buildings and cabins. It is a community of faithful people who step forward when needed most. Because of your prayers, generosity, hard work, and encouragement, campers never stopped experiencing the love of Christ—even in the midst of recovery.

Thank you for standing with us. Every reopened cabin, every volunteer hour, every gift, and every prayer is helping ensure that Camp Pecometh continues changing lives for generations to come.

With gratitude,

Augie Lankford
